

NATIONAL GUARD FOR BORDER PATROL

Widespread Demand That the Border be Adequately Guarded May Move President to Call Out the National Guard.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 8.—Demands that the administration call out the National Guard for service along the border, and for a much increased force of troops to cope with the Mexican situation, poured in on the White House today. The latest outrage at Glenn Springs and Boquillas, Tex., plainly has caused as much indignation throughout the country as did that at Columbus, N. M. Texas senators and representatives today were demanding action that will give the entire border an adequate guard.

The latest raid has added to the tension between this country and the de facto government in Mexico. It showed conclusively that the claims made by the Carranzistas that they had control of the entire country with the exception of the small section where Villa was supposed to be operating, in person absolutely were without foundation. And it completely refuted the arguments made by Ambassador Designated Arredondo that another Columbus raid was an utter impossibility. Officials declared that the expedition now on the way to the scene of the latest outrage will pursue the bandits no matter where they may try to flee.

Although the officials of the de facto government have insisted that this latest raid was entirely the work of Villistas, there are many army men here who do not take this view of the matter. The Carranzista forces who have been operating in Mexico across from the Big Bend country are notoriously anti-American. It was in this section that earlier outrages took place which caused the massing of the troops at Brownsville. At the war department it was stated today that General Funston already has reported a force of 350 troops in pursuit of the bandits and others will be sent to the scene as soon as possible.

Officials were fearful of other outrages in Texas. It was pointed out at the war department that there are a dozen points along the border where conditions parallel those at Glenn Springs and with the small force of troops it is almost an impossibility for General Funston to go to all these points to provide the adequate guard that is needed. Because of this army officers were urging today that the coast artillery available be organized as infantry and sent to the border along with the selected units of the National Guard that already have been tentatively chosen for service when the president decides that their services are needed.

There was no concealing that this latest raid will have the effect of keeping the American forces in Mexico indefinitely. If the new expedition which has been sent in pursuit of the Glenn Springs bandits crosses the line it will be possible for them to shorten General Pershing's line of communication.

The latest outrage in the opinion of senators and representatives may force the administration to abandon the policy of General Scott and General O'Brien, on the border.

As has occurred previously, this latest assault upon American rights from Carranza has come at a time when President Wilson was making every concession to the demands of the de facto government upon the United States. The protocol being arranged on the border between General Scott and Carranza's minister of war was virtually completed and its terms adhered to by President Wilson. Although this agreement was understood virtually to impose upon the United States the obligation of speedily withdrawing from Mexico, where Carranza has so hampered operations that the troops were bound hand and foot, still it did not satisfy the first chief. Carranza will be demanding further concessions when the wires flash the news of the latest border massacre.

In army circles there is growing concern over the failure of the administration to seize the Mexican railroads as soon as the first American troops crossed from Columbus after Villa. They declare the expedition was due to result in the accomplishment of nothing from the start with full dependence for communications placed upon motor trucks. These officers recalled with bitterness that the American soldiers killed at the front have died while being brought back to Columbus on motor trucks, the Carranza authorities having denied the use of the railroad even for the transportation of American dead, sick and wounded.

GERMAN RAIDERS IN THE ATLANTIC?

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 8.—Reports of cruiser raiders and submarines in the Atlantic vessel lane in the vicinity of the Azores today eclipsed interest in the submarine controversy with Germany. It was accepted that they were in position to cause serious trouble. If they are lying in wait for liners and attack one of them without warning, they may bring on a new crisis with Germany and will cause a diplomatic break. Officials made it very plain again today that while the president has decided to accept the new German promises, he will hold that government to "strict accountability to see that these promises are kept and if another single American right is violated he will not hesitate to recall Ambassador Gerard and hand Count von Bernstorff his papers.

So far as the reported attempt to sink the steamer Venezia, which brought the news of the presence of the German craft to New York was concerned, officials said today that, even though there were forty American citizens on board when the attack took place, the German vessels were within their rights in shelling the ship. Orders to stop were signalled in a proper manner and the captain of the liner relinquished all of his rights when he ordered the attempt to escape which proved successful. Had he been sunk while trying to escape this government would have had no ground for protest, officials say.

So far as the administration's attitude on the latest German submarine note is concerned, it now is accepted that Germany will be told that this government accepts her promises at their face value and will expect that they be carried out. It is understood that the president believes that there will be no further attacks on merchant vessels without warning with the sanction of the German government. He is expected, in the reply which is to be sent to Germany, to make it plain that the action of the German government is in no way considered as conditional on action by Great Britain. The very fact that German sources here already have pointed out that Germany did not consider that she had made any condition but rather had indicated that her position was one of expectancy that this government could get concessions from England, has tended to relieve the situation.

The White House and the papal legation remained silent today on the communication presented to the president from Pope Benedict. It is admitted that the message expressed the sincere hope of the pontiff that there would be no rupture between Germany and the United States, but information as to whether it discussed possibilities of peace was withheld by officials. The matter was entirely personal, it was stated, and nothing could be said about it at this time.

It again was pointed out by sources close to the president that any movement looking towards peace must be conducted with the utmost secrecy. The least open intimation that an attempt was being made to get the belligerent nations together would frustrate the movement as it would be misunderstood in the belligerent nations and would cause the radical element to commence an agitation that would be certain to prevent any compromise.

LOCAL GIRLS WOULD BE MOVIE QUEENS

The beauty and brains contest, which, under the guidance of the World Equitable Motion Picture Corporation, has been running the past eight months in the Photoplay Magazine, is drawing to a close. Lillian Russell, one of the judges, has made a selection of five local girls, who will enter the final elimination which is now going forward to select the eleven successful candidates. The local girls selected by Miss Russell are Miss Vera V. Wasim, of No. 65 Johnson avenue; Miss Gertrude Cook, of No. 7 Wurts street; Miss Almira Bird, of No. 83 Down street; Miss Hazel Gilbert, No. 162 84th avenue; Miss Gladys Byrd, No. 24 Down street. If these girls are among the eleven winning candidates they will be taken to New York, a month will be devoted to teaching them the value of various dramatic angles, and then those who show proper interest and sufficient ability will become permanent members of the World and Equitable stock companies, and at good salaries appear in films. The winning candidates are expected to be announced in June.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETIC NOTES

K. H. S. Varsity, 10: Saugerties, 4.
Saturday afternoon the high school varsity baseball team started in on its work for the season by winning a praiseworthy victory over Saugerties high school at the athletic field by a score of 10 to 4.

It took the team three or four innings to settle down into the pace that their loyal supporters felt sure they could take. When they did, however, there was no hope for the visiting team.

The local battery worked in perfect harmony. Bill Mac Auliffe, "the little pitcher," was right there and his "wing" instead of tiring under the strain of a whole game's play, appears to be better at the end of the game than it is in the second inning. Then with his team mate and captain, "T" Terwilliger, taking them right off the bat there could hardly be a better team for "T" has a record of 100 percent in the last two games.

Reaching the second base almost before it reaches his hands. In this way Wheeler at second was able to catch several would-be base thieves. The whole team played the game. Johnston at third was the wonder worker of the day, while Relyea evinced an ability to grow a few feet in a case of emergency so as to maintain connections between a few somewhat wild throws and the dusty bag at first. The outfield did not have many opportunities to star as the visitors seldom dreamed of getting the ball out that far. The local team's play is steady and methodical, and bids fair to get them something before the season is over that will look well alongside the other athletics gained this year. The runs by innings were as follows:

Saturday morning the Midget baseball team also began its season's work and defeated the No. 5 team by a score of 12 to 2. The game was played on the Andrew street field and just before the game the Midgets elected Wesley Thompson for their captain for the 1916 season. Thompson distinguished himself in basketball during the past season and the school looks forward to a fine record in baseball this spring with so popular a captain and so efficient a squad. Miles, Straley and Gelligan were the pitchers in the high school's battery and Bruyen and Short were the catchers. The No. 5 battery was made up first of Osterhoudt, pitcher, and Brown, catcher. Later in the game Meeker twirled the ball and Osterhoudt caught.

Varsity Baseball Schedule.

Besides the game with Saugerties last Saturday, there have been six other games scheduled so far for the 1916 K. H. S. varsity season. They are as follows:

Raymond Readson School at Highland, May 20.
Catskill at Kingston, May 24.
Troy at Kingston, May 30.
Troy at Troy, June 17.

SPRAYING IN THE MOUNTAINS

Manager Hook Visits Sundown and Puts in a Busy Day and Night Telling and Showing How to Clean up an Orchard.

Manager Hook of the Ulster County Farm Bureau put in a long and busy day Friday of last week when he made a trip to Sundown and Peakamoose, in the town of Denning, where he gave a spraying demonstration on the farm of John Coddington. On the way to Sundown Mr. Hook stopped at the old Marletown school and assisted in Arbor Day exercises and also made a stop at the Accord school, where he delivered an address.

Fruit is not grown to any great extent in the town of Denning, and Mr. Coddington has probably the largest apple orchard in that town. He has 15 or 20 old trees and 20 or 30 young ones. Mr. Coddington had sprayed last year for codling moth quite effectively, using a barrel spray pump, the only spraying apparatus that could be handled in his orchard. Specimens of fruit shown by Mr. Coddington proved the efficacy of his work so far as he had gone with it, they being free from worm holes, but the need for other spraying was shown by the fact that the apples showed scale of various kinds and a wide variety of scab and fungus. The orchard was also found to be infested with a most promising brood of aphid and cigar case bearer.

Manager Hook donned his working clothes and mixed a lime and sulphur spray to which he added Black Leaf 40, and with an improved nozzle on Mr. Coddington's sprayer proceeded to show just how to administer a dose that would hit the whole tree and clean it of a score or so of undesirable kinds of tenants.

In the evening Mr. Hook addressed an assembly in the Sundown M. E. Church at which 93 persons were present. This was a meeting of the local Cornell Study Club, which has been holding regular meetings during the winter, and was presided over by Mrs. Anthony W. Dimock, wife of the financier, fisherman, hunter, author, photographer, whose writings and pictures have made "The Happy Valley" famous. There was music on a Victrola, a song by the choir, presentation of badges and certificates to seven Boy Scouts who had attained the tenderfoot rank and stereoscopic views to illustrate Manager Hook's talk, which was on soil conditions and fertility, showing clearly that lime, humus and physical condition were all matters to be considered preliminary to the adding of commercial fertilizer.

Norman DuBois of Sundown has been experimenting with alfalfa and reported that his field looked as though the alfalfa had gone to the war and forgotten to come back.

In speaking of the market value of hay as compared with its feeding value, Manager Hook said it was a good thing that the market demanded timothy, which was good hay for race horses, as it left the much more valuable clover hay to be consumed on the farm. Not only is the feeding value of clover greater than that of timothy, but the manure is much more valuable.

Mr. Hook arrived home at 1:30 Saturday morning, returning over a not altogether lovely mountain road to Monticello in order to avoid a stretch of road under construction that he managed to negotiate going by having a few persons stand on the step on the upper side of his automobile in order to keep it from turning upside down.

Abie Rang the Fire Alarm.

Sunday evening about 7:30 o'clock something went wrong with the lamp on the Ford car owned by George Gentner of Merritt avenue, and Abie Bacharach, who happened along, thinking the machine was on fire promptly rang in an alarm from Box 43, corner of Broadway and Spring street. There was no damage.

AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR PHOENICIA

Melvin R. Coutant, master mechanic of the Ulster & Delaware railroad, and three friends received injuries more or less serious on Sunday afternoon when the Franklin car owned and driven by Mr. Coutant skidded on the slippery road one mile from Phoenicia and turned turtle over an embankment.

The accident occurred about one o'clock in the afternoon and the party were returning from Lanesville. With Mr. Coutant were Alfred Whipple and Richard Henson, both of Phoenicia, and Theodore C. Wood, son of O. V. Wood, of No. 332 Broadway.

In making a sharp turn in the road, the car skidded in the mud and turned entirely around. It turned around with such force that it was carried to the edge of the road and then toppled over the embankment. Mr. Coutant's guests were thrown out of the car as it went over the embankment, but he was pinned under it. The others made their way to the car, whose engine was still running, and after shutting off the power they succeeded in extricating Mr. Coutant. Another automobile carried him to Phoenicia where he was examined by Dr. John C. Gross, and he was then hurried to Kingston by friends in another auto and taken to the Kingston City Hospital, where he was attended by Dr. A. A. Stern, who found severe lacerations and strained tendons of the left hand, but apparently no other injuries.

Mr. Whipple was cut about the head and Mr. Wood received a cut in Mr. Henson was uninjured. The car was brought to Kingston later in the day by the Forsyth & Davis wrecker, in charge of Grover C. Lasher.

AUTO SPEEDERS FINED $5 EACH

Police Start Campaign Against Violators of Speed Ordinance—Two Were Rounded Up Saturday—Affron Arrested, Charged With Reckless Driving.

The police have determined to make an effort to "stop speeding" on the city streets and as a result, Policeman Walker on Saturday afternoon caught two local automobilists speeding their cars up Broadway at a speed of about twenty-six miles an hour, and placed both under arrest.

The speeders were Clarence H. Harris of No. 70 Pearl street and Hildreth Letzette of Clifton avenue. This morning Mr. Harris, when arraigned before Recorder Lang, said that he thought the speed ordinance allowed a speed of twenty miles an hour. He was informed that he was caught while running his car at the rate of 26 miles an hour and was fined $5, which he paid.

Mr. Letzette was also found guilty and fined $5, which he paid. Samuel Affron, who was arrested on the complaint of Mahlon Houghtaling of Hurley, on a charge of reckless driving, appeared in court and Recorder Lang adjourned the case until next Monday. Mr. Affron's automobile struck the wagon of Mr. Houghtaling on an uptown street several days ago, wrecking the wagon and injuring Mr. Houghtaling, who was confined for some time in the Kingston City Hospital.

WILSON'S NOTE TO GERMANY READY

Will Now Turn His Attention to British Interference With Trade and Holding up of Mails.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 8.—White House officials stated today that the president's reply to the latest German note probably will be started to Berlin immediately. It is the intention of the administration to make the note public at once.

It was authoritatively stated that the president will accept the German orders to submarine commanders as meeting the demands contained in his ultimatum of April 18. It also will reserve the right to deal with developments as they take place and the right to deal with the entente Allies as this government sees fit. It was stated that the note was completed at a conference late last night between the president and Secretary Lansing. It is the present intention of the government to make the note public immediately. While officials declined to discuss the text in advance of its being made public, it was explained that the president is convinced that the German orders to submarine commanders meet the situation as he has outlined it. These orders are scrupulously obeyed, officials say, there can be no room for complaint in the future and it was the future with which the president was chiefly concerned.

Officials considered that the German crisis has passed for the present and it is expected that the president immediately will take up with Secretary Lansing the numerous matters in conflict with Great Britain, including the trade controversy and the holding up of mail to and from the United States.

FOUND DEAD IN CHAIR ON PORCH

William Hoffman, an Aged Man, Expired While Sitting Smoking in Porch Chair at His Home on First Avenue—Heart Failure. Cause of Death.

Shortly after ten o'clock this morning, Mrs. Michael Beane, when she came down stairs at her home, No. 53 First avenue, found her uncle, William Hoffman, sitting in the chair on the front porch of the house. As she glanced at him she found that he was unusually pale, and running across the street to the residence of Mrs. Fred J. Baker, she asked Mrs. Baker to telephone for a doctor, as her uncle was seized with a fainting spell.

At the time, James V. Halloran, an insurance agent, was passing and Mrs. Baker asked him to go over and see what was the matter with Mr. Hoffman. He did so and found that the man was dead. Word was immediately sent to Coroner E. A. Kelly, who issued a death certificate.

Mr. Hoffman has been in poor health for some time, being troubled with asthma and heart trouble. This morning he appeared to be in fairly good health and walked down the street ways and then returned to his home and sat down in a porch chair to smoke his pipe, which was found clutched tightly in one hand.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 8, 1916.

In his recent letter to Senator Walton, Commissioner of Highways Duffey remarked: "Our attention has been drawn to criticisms of one kind and another which have been made in regard to the (Sleight-burgh) bridge matter. These have been unjust criticisms, and based upon mistaken facts." There is one fact which is not "mistaken," and that is that the beginning of construction has been allowed to drag on for years without excuse. The engineers had plenty of time to perfect their plans long before the war broke out and sent up the price of steel. It is true that Commissioner Duffey's predecessors were fully as much at fault as he has been, but that does not excuse him or make criticisms "unjust." The public is tired of senseless procrastination. It is pretty well aware of the reason for the delay, but would like to have Mr. Duffey or anybody else with personal knowledge come out in the open and explain. If the Commissioner now proceeds to live up to his promise and work actually begins within a short time, the criticisms of him will turn to praise. The Freeman, in behalf of the large body of interested citizens, demands justice to the public interest and also justice to Mr. Duffey. If the latter feels that he has been criticised unjustly, he should take into account the fact that the bridge matter has been foisted with so long that all the people are now "from Missouri." He has it in his power to turn all the current censure into commendation for himself.

Years ago we expressed the opinion that a nation of hybrid Indians and Spaniards such as inhabits Mexico can never maintain a stable Government. They are quite as incapable in this direction as were the American Indians, and, like the latter, must in the end be subjected by white men, hosts of them being killed off in the process. This sounds brutal, but we must come to it in the end. The Mexican raids are bound to continue, just as our own Indian massacres did, until they are ended in the same bloody way. If the United States does not perform this task it cannot justly invoke the Monroe doctrine to keep foreigners from doing it. Even President Wilson must by this time have an inkling of the truth. He attempted to justify his refusal to recognize Huerta by uttering a lot of bombast about the sanctity of constitutional Government, but he did recognize Carranza, who had no more constitutional authority than the other man. If the early settlers in this country had persisted in a policy of "watchful waiting" with the redskins, what would have happened? No one surpasses us in a horror of bloodshed in general, but we believe in it when a little of it today prevents a great deal more tomorrow.

The German mania for system probably is responsible in some degree for the apparent food-shortage in the empire. The Teuton has been trained to be thorough and the regulation of food distribution now in effect throughout Germany was announced to be in contemplation soon after the German drive towards Paris failed and it became evident that the war would be prolonged. Prussian plans had not contemplated as long a struggle as that which has followed, and the regulations for food distribution evidently had not reached that degree of perfection which military maneuvers had been accorded because the central thought of those responsible for the war had been quick conquest, but the mania for thorough system extends to every branch of activity now, including food distribution. While Germany pleads for the unrestricted entry of milk for its babies, it denies the statements that the adult population is in need; while complaining of the British blockade and regulating food distribution, it allows uncensored news that Berlin butchers have been concealing 50,000 pounds of meat for favored customers. Numerous inconsistencies lead inevitably to the conclusion that Germany is far from starving.

A New York business man whose prosperity led him recently to announce that he would furnish two scholarships at Bryn Mawr College, which his daughter attended, one to a girl in New York city and one to a girl in New Orleans, "immediately met with experiences which must have amazed him. Among his early callers the following morning was a man of means whose daughter already was attending a New York city college, who demanded that his daughter be selected for one of the scholarships and that she be sent to Vassar. He became angry when the donor declined to meet his demand. The New York school authorities were so slow in providing a method for choosing a candidate that the disgusted donor finally sought the advice of friends, on whose recommendation he made a selection. Girl applicants besieged him and begging letters ran the gamut of human needs from requests for money for household furnishings to a plan for taking over a quantity of worthless mining stock. For unadulterated nerve, the man who demanded that his daughter be sent to Vassar receives the prize. Although well able to continue her college expenses, he thought he saw a chance to bullyrag someone else into doing it. He did not lose his self-respect by such action because if he had possessed any he would not have acted as he did. Next time the prosperous business man does a generous thing he will probably regard the injunction not to let his left hand know what his right hand does.

STRIKE OVER TIBBITTS FUND

Reformed Episcopal Church Wants It, While Regular Episcopal Are Getting it and a School Would Also Like It.

A mix-up in wills afforded one of the nicest legal problems heard in some time at Judge Hasbrouck's special term of the supreme court on Saturday when application was made on behalf of the trustees of the Sustenation Fund of the Reformed Episcopal Church that the sum of $5,000 now in the hands of the state treasurer be turned over to them and that they be appointed trustees to administer such fund under the will of Ceba Quackenbush of Rensselaer county.

The litigation has proceeded for some months and the most deeply interested parties are the members of the well known Tibbitts family, which is composed principally of High Church Episcopalians. The High Churchmen belong to the Protestant Episcopal Church and differ radically from the members of the Reformed Episcopal Church. The latter is not an incorporated body but its affairs are administered by the trustees of the Sustenation Fund, some of whom reside in Philadelphia and some in New York city.

Devise That Was Invalid.

George H. Tibbitts, who died in the 70's was a well known and wealthy resident of Rensselaer county. He was a firm believer in the tenets of the Reformed Episcopal Church, whose purpose was pronounced by one of the attorneys at Saturday's hearing as being the reformation of the Protestant Episcopal Church. By his will George H. Tibbitts appointed three close personal friends trustees for the purpose of incorporating an association within three years for certain purposes, and if they failed to form the corporation then twenty-four acres of land at Hoosick Falls, Rensselaer county, was directed to be given to the Reformed Episcopal Church. By another clause in his will all his land was devised to his sons. The trustees never formed the corporation as such a provision had been judicially determined to be invalid, and the Reformed Episcopal Church not being an incorporated body was unable to hold the land as the law did not allow gifts to an unincorporated church society or association.

Where Boys Says Prayers.

Two sons of George H. Tibbitts organized the Hoosick Falls Chapel and established the Hoosick Falls School, which is still conducted as a church preparatory school where the boys students must attend prayers in the chapel three times a day. The chapel serves as a church for residents of Hoosick Falls and is supported entirely by members of the Tibbitts family and by private subscriptions. A number of years ago the name of the chapel was changed to All Saints' Church, but there never has been any church corporation. The rector serves without pay.

How Ceba Repented.

Among the communicants at All Saints' for several years was Ceba Quackenbush, who was described by Senator George B. Wellington of Troy as a retired hotel keeper who decided to repent for his former sins. Mr. Quackenbush retired wealthy and made a will by which he provided liberally for his heirs and also bequeathed the sum of $5,000 to All Saints' Church. The church not being an incorporated body could not receive the legacy, under the ruling of the surrogate of Rensselaer county, who directed that it be paid into the state treasury until ownership was determined.

Mr. Quackenbush's $5,000 legacy having been intended for benevolent and religious uses, both the Hoosick School, which has charge of All Saints' Church, and the trustees of the Sustenation Fund of the Reformed Episcopal Church have come forward with claims of their peculiar fitness for appointment as trustees to administer the trust fund.

What the Tibbitts Want.

The Hoosick School claims it is peculiarly fitted for this task inasmuch as the church is attached to the school, which is conducted and supported by the Tibbitts millions; that Mr. Quackenbush intended to create a trust fund for the benefit of the church, whose income should take the place of his regular contributions; that the Rev. Dr. Tibbitts, president of the school, is also rector of the church, and the church treasurer and the treasurer of the school, which is an incorporated body, both have the same treasurer. The school also urges that it has already acted as trustee since 1870 under George H. Tibbitts' will and the trustee should carry out the purposes of the testator's will which was the maintenance of the church, and not expend it for the general reformation of the Episcopal Church. The school urges that its trustees will use the fund for that purpose only.

Church Wants to Handle Cash.

The objection to this plan raised by the trustees of the Sustenation Fund of the Reformed Episcopal Church goes back to the will of George H. Tibbitts and its provision that unless the three friends he named in his will formed a corporation, the property should pass on to the Reformed Episcopal Church. There was nothing in his will to indicate that he wished his sons to take over the twenty acres, it is argued, and the only claim of the sons rests on their adverse possession. They urge also that Mr. Tibbitts was one of the organizers of the Reformed Episcopal Church and made his intention clear in his will that he did not wish the property to be used by the Protestant Episcopal Church, whose services now are being held there. He was one of the incorporators of the Sustenation Fund and while he should have known that the Reformed Episcopal Church itself could not take the title to property except through the trustees of the Sustenation Fund, they claim that their guess should be credited to as much consideration as any guess of the Tibbitts family's school, and their guess is to the effect that this omission in his will was an error on the part of the man who drafted the will. The trustees of the Sustenation Fund therefore urge that Judge Hasbrouck should establish the question of title to the $5,000 trust fund, absolutely, because they have made a claim for the twenty-four acres of land at Hoosick Falls on which the school and church are situated, under the provisions of George H. Tibbitts' will. For forty years, they claim, they knew nothing of their ownership of this property until they were cited to attend the executor's judicial settlement in 1912. During that forty years the Tibbitts family has expended $175,000 on the school buildings and church.

The State's Present Position.

The attorney general's office claims that since the bequest to All Saints' Church is void, neither the Hoosick School nor the trustees of the Sustenation Fund have any right to demand their appointment as trustees, but that the $5,000 must be paid instead to the residuary legatees, who have made no claim to the money and who, if they believe the money of Mr. Quackenbush was intended as a trust fund for the maintenance of the church, are in a position to transfer the fund to proper trustees who can carry out Mr. Quackenbush's wishes.

Waits For the Attorney General.

Judge Hasbrouck asked whether the attorney general personally had decided on what position the state would assume and he reserved decision until final word is received from the attorney general personally in regard to the position he desires to take in the matter. Horace Rogers of New York city appeared for the trustees of the Sustenation Fund; Senator George B. Wellington of Troy appeared for the Hoosick School, with J. Noble Hayes of New York city, a close personal friend of the Tibbitts family, of counsel.

WITTENBERG.

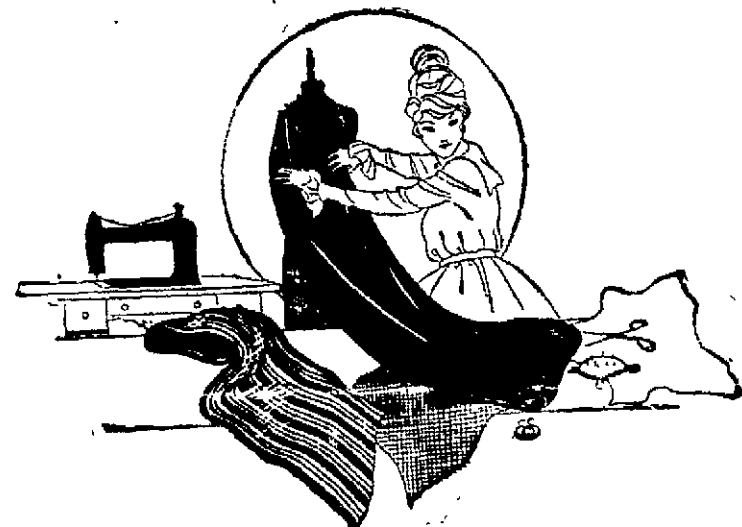

Wittenberg, May 8.—The W. W. Society of the M. E. Church will hold a "poverty social" in the church hall on Tuesday evening, May 16. A free entertainment will be given about 8 o'clock, after which supper will be served. All should come in their "poverty" clothes or they will be fined ten cents. Be sure and come and help a good cause along. Miss Zula Short of New York city

ONLY ONE DIVORCE IN SPECIAL TERM

One divorce case was tried before Judge Hasbrouck at Saturday's special term of the supreme court. It was brought by Helen Van Leuven against Howard Van Leuven. The parties live at Kerhonkson, where they were married in November, 1910. They have one child. The husband was employed by his father when his wife last knew of his having work, at $25 a month and his board. Hattie Rose was named as correspondent and the acts on which a divorce was asked occurred at Jimmy Spedoro's saloon at Napanoch and at Ellenville. The witnesses were Carrie Miller and Anna May Worden. Decision was reserved. John R. DeVany of Ellenville appeared for the plaintiff and there was no appearance by the defendant. The Good Samaritan Finds Himself Sued.

Argument was had in the case of William Lee against Jeremiah M. Sherman on a motion by the plaintiff to strike out part of the defendant's answer as irrelevant and redundant. Graham Witschiet of Newburgh appeared for the plaintiff and the motion and Frank H. Osborne of Catskill for the defendant and opposed. Mr. Osborne raised a preliminary objection that the court was without jurisdiction in that notice of motion had not been served within twenty days after the answer had been served, to which Mr. Witschiet replied that this was a court rule not thoroughly settled and not a provision of the code. The action is brought to recover on a $2,500 demand note given in 1901. The defendant claims the money for which the note was given was advanced to continue a New England woolen mill in business after the business had been somewhat disrupted as the result of a family squabble which the defendant had endeavored to settle as a member of the family. He conducted the business for awhile. Other litigation over the business is now pending in Connecticut and involves $30,000. The defendant claims he acted merely as a friend and that the note, if paid, should be paid out of the $30,000 in Connecticut and not by himself personally. Judge Hasbrouck reserved decision.

Claims He Gets it Going and Coming

In the case of Henry F. Granger against Henry F. Marks, Henry C. Brewster, Traders' National Bank of Rochester and the Indian Splint, Inc., and others, a motion was made by the defendants to compel the plaintiff to accept the answer. The plaintiff's counsel refused to accept the answer on the ground that it was not properly verified, one of the defendants having verified it individually for himself and the corporations of which he is an officer, there being no corporate acknowledgment. The action is for a recovery and damages, the plaintiff alleging a conspiracy on the part of the defendants to acquire certain rights patents etc. in which he is interested, without proper compensation therefor, while at the same time holding him to his endorsements on certain paper. Decision was reserved.

Agreement for Only One Term.

Argument was had in the case of Joseph Mayone against Antonio Ciaffone, on a motion by the defendant to set aside judgment taken on an inquest. The defendant has changed his attorneys and the motion was based on the ground that the former counsel, who represented the defendant at the time the inquest was taken, had no knowledge when the case was to be tried. The case had been carried for several terms on the calendar of the trial terms of the supreme court and on account of the distance between Kingston and New York, where the defendant's attorney resided, an agreement was made whereby forty-eight hours' notice of trial was to be given by Brinnier & Canfield, attorneys for Mayone. No notice was received, it was stated, and the defendant or his attorney had no knowledge of the trial until after the inquest had been taken. City Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr., who appeared for Mayone, said the agreement had been for only one term of court. Decision was reserved.

Town Allowed to Interplead.

Judge Hasbrouck has granted an order allowing the town of Lloyd to interplead as a defendant in the certiorari proceedings brought by the New Paltz, Highland & Poughkeepsie Traction Company against the State Tax Commissioners. The state tax commissioners fix the value of the franchise of public service corporations except really which is owned separate and apart from the property used in connection with the franchise. The Highland trolley road recently began certiorari proceedings to review its assessment in the town of Lloyd, town of New Paltz and village of New Paltz. Formerly it was the custom for the attorney general to designate one of his deputies to appear in the proceedings but an amendment to the law allows a county attorney, village counsel or corporation counsel to appear for the town, village or city affected. Under Judge Hasbrouck's order, the town of Lloyd will be represented by County Attorney John W. Eckert.

Orders Granted.

Orders were granted in the following cases:

Kingston Savings Bank against Ida B. Smith. Action in mortgage foreclosure. Order of reference to Corporation Counsel William B. Brinnier granted. Judge Betts for the plaintiff.

David Engel against Wendel Serber and others. Order confirming report of sale of referee in mortgage foreclosure proceedings granted. Brinnier & Canfield for the plaintiff.

Lee Clinton against Nellie Clinton and others. Orders directing payment of moneys now in the hands of the county treasurer to Nellie Clinton, Margaret Clinton and Anne E.

What is a Weed?

According to Webster's Standard dictionary there are two definitions of a weed: 1. Wild growth in the nature of rank grass, undergrowth, or the like. 2. Any plant growing in cultivated ground to the injury of the crop or desired vegetation, or to the disfigurement of the place; an unsightly, useless or injurious plant. The following note is added: A weed is a plant that is not wanted. There are, therefore, no species of weeds, for a plant that is a weed in one place may not be in another.

CRAZY WOMAN HAD A CARVING KNIFE

Made Call at Home of Edward Schurick on Manor Avenue—Arrested by Police—Found Insane After Examination.

Mrs. Mamie Rowe of 92 South Manor avenue, was examined as to her sanity on Sunday at police headquarters at the city hall by Drs. Johnston and O'Meara, who found her insane. She will be committed to the Middletown state asylum, and was sent to the Benedictine Sanitarium to await the arrival of the keeper from the asylum.

For some time past she made life miserable for the Schuricks, who reside next door at No. 95 South Manor avenue. Saturday evening Mrs. Rowe appeared at the Schurick house and knocked at the door, which was opened by Mr. Schurick, who found Mrs. Rowe at the doorstep with a butcher knife clamped tightly in one hand. She attempted to force her way into the house but Mr. Schurick slammed the door shut in her face and telephoned to the police, who arrived shortly afterward and accompanied Mrs. Rowe to the city hall.

Her actions were such that it led the police to believe that she was insane and Health Officer Johnston and Dr. O'Meara were called to make an examination.

Mrs. Rowe when questioned as to why she had gone to the home of Edward Schurick, said that she would have to see the president at the White House about the matter.

Mrs. Rowe's husband is said to be employed on the Schmidt farm.

A POLITICAL "BOOM."

How the Idea of the Expression Came to Its First User.

The word "boom" as applied to a political movement so far as known, was first used by the editor of a Republican newspaper in St. Louis, Mo. pending the return of General U. S. Grant from the tip around the world undertaken by him in 1879 immediately following his retirement from the presidency of the United States.

The term was used so persistently and so clearly that it soon began to lodge in popular thought and to take on the meaning which the editor intended to convey when he declared that the movement looking to a third term for Grant was "booming" or when he employed the invention as a noun and spoke of the Grant boom.

The idea had come to him from a common expression used by the people along the Mississippi river. When that stream was at flood and sweeping everything before it it was said to be "booming." The St. Louis editor aimed to convey the thought that the movement for the nomination of Grant for the presidency in 1880 was like the onward sweep of a great river under such conditions and therefore a boom.

The term soon came into general use and has been applied in the United States ever since, alike to spontaneous and preconcerted or organized movements looking to the placing of some person in an office of importance, not necessarily, but generally, the presidency—Christian Science Monitor.

POP GEERS.

"POP" GEERS HOPES TO DRIVE MILE IN TWO MINUTES.

Garbled and wrinkled and bent with the long years of service in the sulky, the veteran driver, Edward F. Geers, proposes to enter another formidable stable in the Grand Circuit campaign which opens at North Randall, July 17.

One of the accomplishments the famous southern driver hopes to put over this season is to drive a horse in two minutes. He has driven The Harvester, his fastest trotter, in 2:01, which is the world's record for a stallion of that gait. He also has driven the nagers Bee H. King and Napoleon Direct in 2:00 1/4. The big question this year is will he be able to chip three-quarters of a second from the record of Napoleon Direct?

"Pop" Geers is sixty-five years old. He has been racing horses on northern tracks since 1881 and his long years of service have been featured by success but never has he been able to ride a mile in two minutes. He has an excellent chance of turning the trick this year as in Napoleon Direct he has a very fast horse.

Starting green in 1914, Napoleon Direct to a record of 2:02 1/4. An injury threw him out of training after his first start last season, that at North Randall, but he rounded to in time to win five or six races and to reduce his record to 2:00 1/4. Barring accidents this season it is believed Napoleon Direct, a Tennessee bred horse will pull the great trainer a mile in better than two minutes and thereby add a long wished for performance to the veteran's collection of feats.

COMPARES BENNY KAUFF WITH TY COBB

Benny Kauff and Ty Cobb.

"Benny Kauff?" Hughey Jennings, master of the greatest baseball player the game can boast, Ty Cobb, repeated the last two words of a query and a hundred freckles lighted up as he smiled. "O, he's a good ball player—a fair ball player. But it isn't fair to mention him in the same breath with Ty Cobb. Selling Platters don't stack up with stake horses."

And just a few days ago Jennings saw the two pitted against each other as center fielders, in a game between the Tigers and the New York Giants at Houston, Tex. Ty Cobb, playing his first game of the year without a workout, made Kauff look awkward, says the boss of the Bengal ranch. A few days ago John McGraw, Benny Kauff's master, came forth with a statement after seeing Cobb in that game that the Tiger without doubt was the greatest natural ball player he had ever seen. Jennings agreed with him absolutely. And he has a few good things to say of Kauff.

"Kauff will hit 300 in the National league," the "ee-yah" singer declares. "But that isn't as difficult a job as hitting 300 in the American league. The former Federal leaguer would be only an average ball player in the American league. We're a lot faster than the National."

"What would Cobb hit in the National league then?" he was asked. "I can't think of such big numbers," the answer came back.

A group of baseball players were discussing left-handers the other day, and as they ranged from Waddell to Benton to Salles, they agreed that the man who pitches with his wrong arm is always the possessor of eccentric moods. A ball was hit to Salles, but instead of throwing the ball to the plate and forcing a man, he hurled it to first. When he got

GAMBLERS GET EARLY START

Try to Obtain Foothold by Publishing Odds on Race in Major League—Syndicate Active.

Judging from reports coming out of New York, it looks as if the gambling element is trying to obtain a foothold again in baseball, writes Ralph Davis in the Pittsburgh Press. Odds have been published on the coming major league races, and the chances are that a bookmaking syndicate is already active in the eastern metropolises. It is to be hoped that the powers that be in the national pastime will not relax their efforts to keep the sport free from the gamblers' taint, and that every possible effort will be made to squelch the bookies before they get a fair season's start in their operations.

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, May 8.—John Reiser, the greatest little barber New York ever produced, wants to stage a series of elimination matches to decide the welterweight championship of the world. Incidentally, John is greatly miffed because Dan Morgan is claiming the title for Jack Britton due to Britton's victory over Tad (Kid) Lewis, who is being championed by Jimmy Johnson.

"Where does Morgan get that stuff?" asked the famous lather wielder. "Who gave Johnson and Morgan the right to march their men and then acclaim the winner the champion? Gee, those birds have got some nerve!"

"Why, I've got a boy—Jimmy Coffey, the Mohawk Indian—who can beat both of them in one night. And I'll bet regular money on it."

John Would Donate Belt.

The tussorial expert, who now manages ring warriors and operates fight clubs when there is a lull in the shaving business feels that the question of welterweight supremacy should be settled by elimination matches. John solemnly declared he will donate a diamond belt—with real sparklers in it—to the ultimate winner of the milling.

"There are at least six men in the welter division now who are entitled to consideration," said Reiser. "In addition to Britton, Lewis and Coffey, there are Willie Ritchie, Mike Glover, of Boston, and Mike Dowd, of St. Paul. Packer McFarland can be figured in, too, provided he will make the weight."

"My plan is to put on a ten round bout each week in my New York club leaving the decision as to the winner either to the consensus of newspaper opinion in New York or to a committee of newspaper men appointed by the State boxing commission."

"That's the only way in which the welterweight problem can be solved and I am going to devote my efforts to bring about such a tournament."

The Lightweight Snarl

There ought to be some sort of elimination in the lightweight division too. There are at least five men in that class who seem to have a right to meet Freddie Welsh, in a decision bout.

But the great trouble would come in getting Welsh to agree to battle anyone over the 20 round route. Welsh knows he is about through. The lesson has come through his ears during the past year with some of the topnotchers.

The champion has been beaten decisively by at least three of the aspirants for his crown. Those fights have been over the short route. Over a greater distance Welsh would get a worse waiting, because he is quite ancient whereas most of the challengers have youth and greater endurance in their favor.

The best indication of how far Welsh has skidded is shown by the result of his bout with Ever Hammer. The youngster is mighty clever, and he is coming fast. But he hasn't reached his crest so far. Yet, despite this, he was able to triumph clearly over the champ.

Elimination bouts involving Charlie White, Benny Leonard, Johnny Dundee and Hammer, the winner to meet Welsh in a title scrap—that would be a tasty menu for the pugilistic fans. But Welsh won't do it.

Shugrue Puts Away Mitts.

Failing eyesight has ended the career of young Shugrue, of Jersey City—brought it to its finish just at a time when the youthful lightweight ranked among the topnotchers.

Shugrue always was a good attraction. He fought cleanly and fairly—and all the time. He entered the ring with one idea in mind—to win. And he fought at top speed.

A year ago a cataract appeared on one of Shugrue's eyes. For a time he fought despite the handicap. The affliction became worse. Both eyes became affected. An operation failed to help and Shugrue has laid away his gloves for all time.

The Indians certainly are on the warpath. They also believe in spotted hosiery. Four White Sox scalps are hanging in their belt.

The Tigers had their teeth sharpened and tore the Browns to pieces.

Ad Wogast's victory the other night has made him cocky. He is after the championship again. He wants to meet Freddie Welsh. Take him on for a long bout, Ad.

Two 1 to 0 games were fought out in the National. The Pirates trimmed the Cubs and the Cards got to the Reds.

Can Afford to Laugh.

Some people think it is a great joke on a little man to have a big wife, but if the little man loves his big wife, and she adores him, the joke is on the other folks.

Pete says:

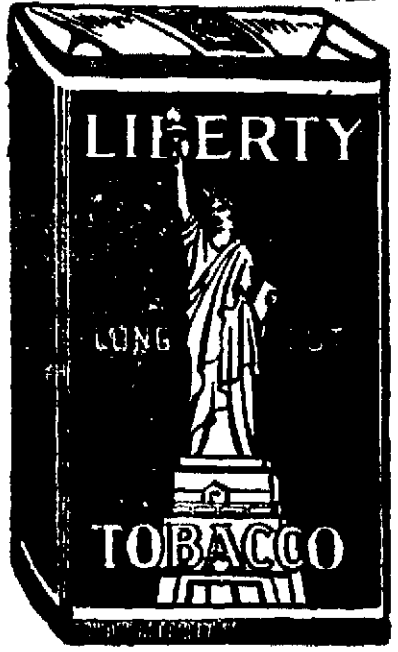

"Tobacco's tobacco, I s'pose, an' there must be a raft of fellers that likes to chew an' smoke the kind that tastes like a' infants' an' invalids' breakfast food."

"An' a lot more marks must enjoy diggin' tobacco stems from between their teeth or tappin' 'em down in their pipes an' tryin' to make 'em burn."

"They're welcome—let 'em go as far as they like. But for me, as old Patrick Henry said, 'Gimme LIBERTY!'"

Live wires whose jobs keep them on the jump all day want a tobacco with "insides" to it—something with body and fullness and relish. They get it in LIBERTY Long Cut. It's all choice, selected leaf, aged from three to five years to ripen and sweeten and grow fragrant and tasty.

LIBERTY is all real-thing, meaty, smoking-and-chewing-goods, too—no loose, hard stems—no short, broken leaves—just real QUALITY clear through.

You'll be glad if you begin, right away, to smoke and chew LIBERTY. It's the BEST money's worth your nickel can buy.

A Lesson in Domestic Science

Step into any one of thousands of public schools, colleges, Y.W.C.A.'s.

There you will see white-capped, white-aproned young girls learning the gospel of better cooking, better eating, better living. There they study the nutritive values of different foods.

Often times they analyze "FORCE."

Then they find that "FORCE" is a whole wheat food. They learn that in "FORCE" TOASTED WHEAT FLAKES lies every nourishing element of the wheat of the field. They learn of the well balanced proportions of proteins, fats, carbohydrates and minerals.

And when in their homes they eat this delicious "FORCE" with milk, they learn of the luscious taste of these "crispy," "toasty," rich-brown flakes of nourishing wheat.

"FORCE" on your today's grocery list means a healthful, nourishing breakfast for your family tomorrow.

Many domestic science classes have asked us for information concerning the manufacture of "FORCE." To accommodate them we have prepared an illustrated circular about "FORCE" especially for school use.

EXPERT CUTTING

Spring Suits That Give Men Comfort

Many men imagine that all hand-tailored clothes are alike, and that they cost too much. They argue that ready-made clothes are "good enough," but before they order another suit we'd like to demonstrate what our expert tailoring means to them. We accomplish marvelous results because we carefully consider the stature, weight and the development of each individual when fitting a patron. The garments we make conform to the natural movements of the body, giving the wearer a feeling of ease and security. Come here for that next suit.
